What makes a FOURFIELDS Historian?

Can piece together sources of information to answer questions about the past

Can compare and contrast different time periods

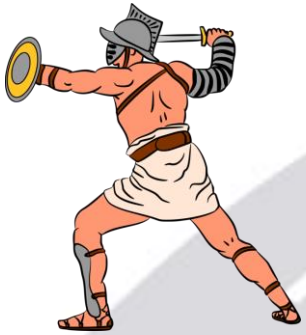
Can place events chronologically

Can ask important questions about the past

Is curious about the past

Thinks critically about and question evidence

Can identify and sort different sources



Asks questions about sources.

Backs up arguments with facts.